February 13, Saturday,
9AM-Noon
"Reconciliation: A Franciscan Interpretation"

Facilitator: Dawn Capilupo, OSF

To see with new eyes, to change how we think about and respond to the difficult other is a challenge not to be underestimated. More often than not, the mere thought of such engagement is met with clenched teeth and a squirming gut. This presentation will explore the historical foundation and vested interest Franciscans have in bringing about the union of opposites; it will acknowledge the personal tussle we have with reconciliation; and it will offer a practical approach in dealing with the "dreaded other" through the medium of myth and animal folklore.

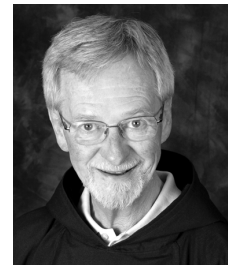

About the presenter: Dawn Capilupo of the Wheaton Franciscan Sisters is a full time Spiritual Directress and retreat guide residing in Milwaukee. She explores the issues and characteristics present in the struggle to be faithful to one's spiritual vocation. Her resources are the Franciscan tradition, Scripture and literature, myth and folktales along with Jungian psychology. She holds a masters degree in Franciscan Studies from St. Bonaventure University, N.Y. and a certificate of completion in Spiritual direction from Shalem Institute, Bethesda, MD.

March 30, Tuesday,
9 AM-Noon
"Servant Leadership: The Art of Empowering"

Facilitator: Keith Clark, Capuchin

Servant Leadership is one of the most popular leadership models used today. The servant leader serves the people he/she leads which implies that they are an end in themselves rather than a means to an organizational purpose or bottom line. Servant leaders are felt to be effective because they consider the needs of their followers and assist them in reaching their full potential. A strength of this way of looking at leadership is that it forces us away from self-serving, domineering leadership and makes those in charge think harder about how to respect, value and motivate.

About the presenter: Capuchin friar and author Keith Clark received his postgraduate study from Oxford University in England. His Masters Degree in Religious Education was earned from Fordham University in New York. Clark has dedicated much of his research and educational efforts to the study of leadership. He teaches, has had several publications in the area of servant leadership and various leadership positions throughout his career. Clark's most recent book is Leadership: The Art of Empowering.
